

ANCIENT ROME

The Empire That Shaped The World

AN INTERACTIVE EXHIBITION
BY ARTISANS OF FLORENCE

SEEKING EXPRESSIONS OF INTEREST

- Expressions of Interest are now being sought to host the American tour of Ancient Rome

THE EXHIBITION

- This award-winning hands-on, interactive exhibition engages visitors by revealing the lost secrets of Ancient Rome through interactive exhibits and displays.
- Interactive hands-on displays enable visitors to have fun learning how yesterday's science has shaped our modern world!

KEY FEATURES

- Over 60 exhibits
- Expertly handcrafted in Italy
- Custom-designed floor-plans
- Historical documents
- True 'hands-on' interactivity
- Award-winning craftsmanship
- Award-winning educational program
- Unique exhibits and content
- Interactive touchscreens
- Documentary movie
- Wide intergenerational appeal

EXHIBITION REQUIREMENTS

- Size 6000sq ft. (600m²) (can be scaled down for smaller venues)
- Delivery One 50ft truck
- 5 day install, 5 day dismantle
- 3 month minimum rental
- Price available upon request

EDUCATION

- Award-winning educational program
- Interactive exhibits
- STEAM content
- Suitable for school excursions
- Wide intergenerational appeal
- Key curriculum areas include:
 - Science
 - Physics
 - Simple Machines
 - History

THE ARTISANS

- Specialise in unique interactive exhibits handcrafted in Italy
- Their exhibitions have toured over 100 countries
- Over 20 million visitors worldwide to date.
- The Artisans of Florence offer seven flagship exhibitions:
 - Galileo – Scientist, Astronomer, Visionary...
 - Da Vinci's Machines and Robotics
 - Ancient Rome – The Empire that Shaped the World
 - The Science of Archimedes
 - Eureka! - Interactive History of Science
 - Michelangelo
 - Da Vinci's First Flight

A group of people, including a woman in a white hoodie and a man in a blue patterned shirt, are gathered around a wooden mechanical device. The background features a red wall with informational text and a white wall with a vertical display of images. The scene is dimly lit, suggesting an indoor museum or gallery environment.

Previous Host Venues

- Museum of Antiquity and Culture (Rome, Italy)
- Museum of Idaho (Idaho Falls, Idaho)
- Museum of the Rockies (Bozeman, Montana)
- Museum of Science and History (Jacksonville, Florida)
- Cranbrook Institute of Science (Michigan, America)
- Fremantle Maritime Museum (Fremantle, Western Australia)
- Mobile History Museum (Mobile, Alabama)
- El Paso History Museum (El Paso, Texas)

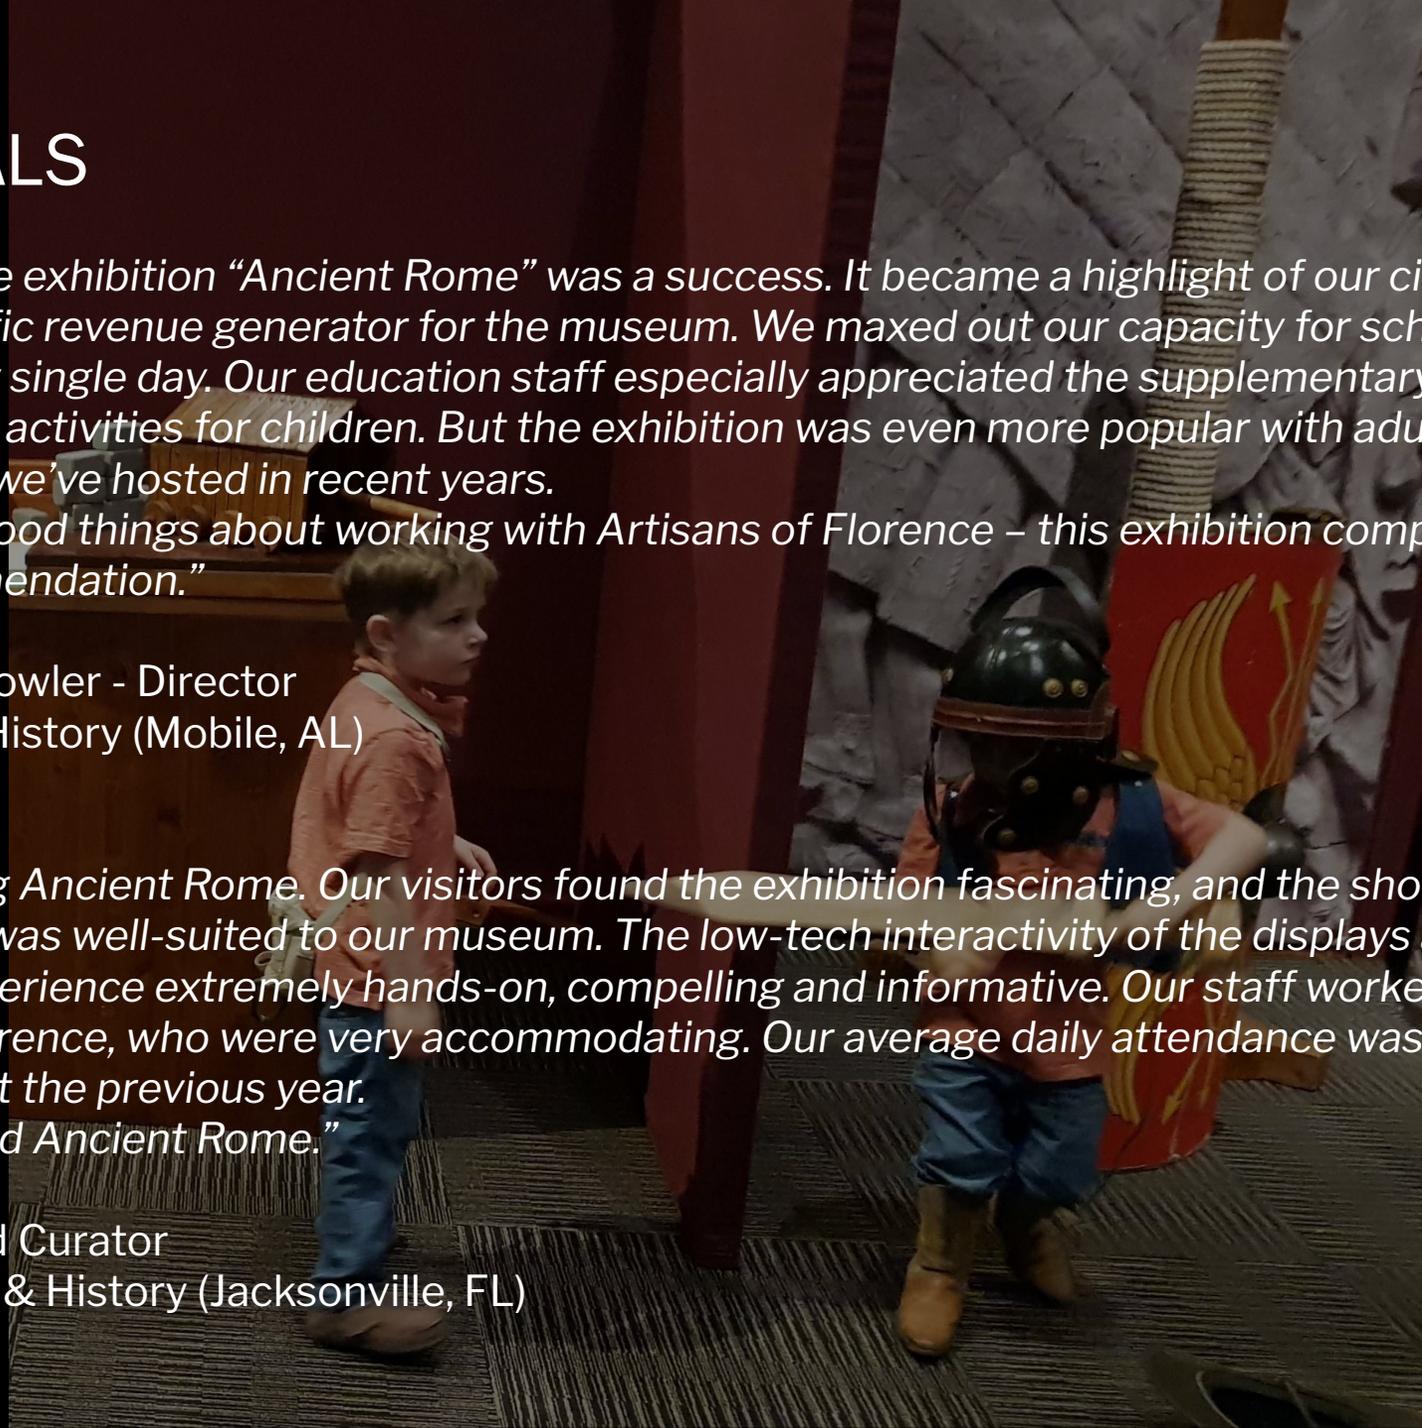

TESTIMONIALS

“By every metric, the exhibition “Ancient Rome” was a success. It became a highlight of our city’s spring calendar, which means it was a terrific revenue generator for the museum. We maxed out our capacity for school tours, touring several school groups every single day. Our education staff especially appreciated the supplementary materials, which facilitated engaging crafts and activities for children. But the exhibition was even more popular with adults – in fact, one of the most popular exhibitions we’ve hosted in recent years. I can’t say enough good things about working with Artisans of Florence – this exhibition company has my full and unreserved recommendation.”

Meg McCrummen Fowler - Director
Mobile Museum of History (Mobile, AL)

“We enjoyed hosting Ancient Rome. Our visitors found the exhibition fascinating, and the show’s combination of history and STEM learning was well-suited to our museum. The low-tech interactivity of the displays and the quality of the videos made the entire experience extremely hands-on, compelling and informative. Our staff worked very well with the crew from Artisans of Florence, who were very accommodating. Our average daily attendance was up 9% over the show that occupied our fall slot the previous year. I heartily recommend Ancient Rome.”

Paul Bourcier - Head Curator
Museum of Science & History (Jacksonville, FL)

A group of Roman legionaries in full armor, including helmets with red plumes and carrying shields, standing in a line in a large arena. The background shows the tiered seating of a colosseum filled with spectators.

CONTACT US

Thomas Rizzo
Director of Travelling Exhibitions (Worldwide)
+61 421 175 339 (Melbourne, Australia)
TomRizzo@ArtisansOfFlorence.com