PASSAGIERUNTERKÜNFTE

Das Design der Titanic ermöglichte es ihr, bei voller Auslastung 2.435 Passagiere zu befördern: 889 in der Ersten Klasse, 674 in der Zweiten Klasse und 1.026 in der Dritten Klasse. Jede Kabine an Bord war mit den neuesten Annehmlichkeiten ausgestattet, die für die jeweilige Klasse geeignet waren, darunter fließendes Wasser und elektrische Heizungen in vielen Kabinen der Ersten und Zweiten Klasse sowie Frischwasserwaschbecken in der Dritten Klasse.

Die Titanic setzte neue Maßstäbe für Passagierunterkünfte, entsprechend ihrem revolutionären Ansatz für Reisen auf See. Die Kabinen der Dritten Klasse wurden als besser angesehen als die der Zweiten Klasse auf anderen Schiffen; die Kabinen der Zweiten Klasse waren so komfortabel wie die der Ersten Klasse auf anderen Linern; und die kunstvoll gestalteten und großzügig bemessenen Kabinen der Ersten Klasse konnten nur mit den Zimmern der besten Hotels an Land verglichen werden.
